

Here's a list of different types of doctors based on their specialties:

1. Oncologist - Specializes in cancer treatment.
2. Orthopedic Surgeon - Focuses on musculoskeletal issues, including bones and joints.
3. Psychiatrist - Deals with mental health disorders and treatments.
4. Cardiologist - Specializes in heart and cardiovascular diseases.
5. Dermatologist - Focuses on skin, hair, and nail conditions.
6. Pediatrician - Specializes in children's health.
7. Gastroenterologist - Deals with digestive system disorders.
8. Neurologist - Focuses on the nervous system and brain disorders.
9. Endocrinologist - Specializes in hormone-related diseases and metabolic disorders.
10. Pulmonologist - Deals with respiratory system conditions.
11. Urologist - Focuses on urinary tract and male reproductive system issues.
12. Rheumatologist - Specializes in autoimmune and inflammatory diseases affecting joints and tissues.
13. Ophthalmologist - Focuses on eye and vision care.
14. Otolaryngologist (ENT) - Deals with ear, nose, and throat conditions.
15. Obstetrician/Gynecologist (OB/GYN) - Specializes in women's reproductive health, including pregnancy and childbirth.
16. Anesthesiologist - Focuses on pain relief and anesthesia during surgeries.
17. Radiologist - Specializes in diagnosing diseases using imaging techniques.
18. Family Physician - Provides comprehensive healthcare for individuals and families.
19. Surgeon - Specializes in surgical procedures in various fields (general, vascular, etc.).
20. Infectious Disease Specialist - Focuses on infectious diseases and their treatment.

This list encompasses a range of medical specialties, each with its own focus and expertise.